

10 Secrets You Must Know Before Choosing a Plastic Surgeon

1. Make certain that your Plastic Surgeon is certified by The American Board of Plastic Surgery. There are multiple boards that certify medical doctors for their specializations. American Board of Plastic Surgery is the only entity that certifies Plastic Surgeons. There is no other recognized board for this purpose despite many similar sounding names. Go to www.abplsurg.org and check the status of certification of plastic surgeon.
2. Make certain that your Plastic Surgeon has privileges to perform plastic surgery procedures in a reputable local hospital. Hospitals monitor doctor's competence to provide this credentialing.
3. Make certain of accreditation of the operating facility. Most plastic surgery facilities are accredited by AAAASF.
4. Make certain that your anesthesia provider is qualified. It is preferable to have an M.D anesthesiologist for your surgery since they are medical doctors who are specialized in anesthesia services.

5. Don't settle for your evaluation and consultation by a sales consultant in doctor's office. You need to have a FACETIME with your Plastic Surgeon, not some proxy. A surgeon who has no time for you before surgery will have no time for you after surgery.
6. Walk away from a high pressure sale pitch. Plastic surgery is always elective.
7. If promise is too good to be true, it probably is.
8. Don't price shop. It can backfire. Cost saving can only come from cutting corners.
9. Stay away from Medical Tourism. American Medical system is still the best in the world. Discriminating patients from countries that offer plastic surgery deals still come to USA for their surgery.
10. Above all, listen to your instincts.
